The newspaper clipping is from the BERNAS newspaper, dated September 13, 2017. The main headline reads "Kemenristek-Dikti Dorong Pengembangan "Science Center"".

Below the headline, there is a detailed article. The first paragraph discusses the Ministry of Research and Technology and Higher Education (Kemenristek-Dikti)'s encouragement of the development of "science centers" or regional science hubs. It highlights the need for such centers to be established in various regions to promote scientific literacy and technological use among the public.

The second paragraph quotes Ophirtus Sumule, Director of the National Innovation System Directorate at the Ministry of Research and Technology and Higher Education. He emphasizes the importance of science centers in providing access to scientific knowledge and technology for all segments of society, particularly through the use of mobile phones. He also notes the dual nature of technology, mentioning both positive and negative impacts.

The third paragraph quotes Heroe Poerwadi, Vice Mayor of Yogyakarta. He discusses the implementation of science centers in Yogyakarta, specifically the Taman Pintar project, which aims to provide scientific education and combat misconceptions about science.

At the bottom of the clipping, there is a small section labeled "Instansi" (Institution) with a dotted line, followed by "Netral" (Neutral) and "Biasa" (Ordinary) checkboxes.
